Membership Information

The Society for General Psychology (APA Div 1) promotes the creation of coherence among psychology’s diverse specialties by encouraging members to incorporate multiple perspectives from psychology’s sub-disciplines into their research, theory, and practice. Division One welcomes membership from students of psychology, academics, researchers, professional practitioners, and public interest psychologists. To this end, we offer a free one-year membership to those joining the division for the first time.

If you choose to join, you will:

- Receive our biannual newsletter, The General Psychologist;
- Be added to our email list to receive announcements about the society;
- Be cordially invited to involve yourself in all of the activities of the society, such as serving on committees, presenting your research and scholarship at the annual APA convention, and enjoying the congenial fellowship of like-minded colleagues.

Benefits of Membership

- The Review of General Psychology, Division 1’s outstanding journal
- The General Psychologist, the Division 1 newsletter—the best newsletter in psychology
- Discounts on Division 1 books, which include six volumes of Pioneers in Psychology
- Exciting programs at APA, including talks by distinguished award winners
- Great colleagues who support coherence among psychology’s many subfields
- Low dues

Types of Memberships

1. APA Member, Associate, Fellow: $29.00, includes journal and newsletter.
2. Student Affiliate (belong to APA or not): Dues $29.00, includes journal and newsletter. Dues $5.00 without journal.
3. Professional Affiliate (professional who does not belong to APA): Dues $29.00, includes journal and newsletter. Dues $5.00 without journal.

Application for New Division 1 Membership

Name
Address
Address
City State/Province
Country Zip/Postal Code
Office Phone
Email

APA Membership Number

Present Membership in APA:
- [ ] Fellow/Member/Associate  [ ] Student Affiliate  [ ] None

If not presently an APA member, please select one:
- [ ] student  [ ] non-student

Special Offer: We offer a free one-year membership (NOT including the Journal) to those joining the division for the first time.

If you wish to receive the journal, please include the $24.00 publication fee with your application form.

How to Join

Complete the form above and mail it with your check made payable to Division 1 to:

APA Division 1
750 First Street, NE
Washington, DC 20002-4242

To join and pay online, go to www.apa.org/divapp.
UNIFYING PSYCHOLOGY

About Us
The Society for General Psychology (APA Div 1) promotes the creation of coherence among psychology's diverse specialties by encouraging members to incorporate multiple perspectives from psychology's sub-disciplines into their research, theory, and practice. Division One welcomes membership from students of psychology, academics, researchers, professional practitioners, and public interest psychologists.

Our Publications
Journal

Review of General Psychology, the Division 1 journal, seeks to publish innovative theoretical, conceptual, or methodological articles that cross-cut the traditional subdisciplines of psychology. The journal contains articles that advance theory, evaluate and integrate research literatures, provide a new historical analysis, or discuss new methodological developments in psychology as a whole.

Newsletter

The General Psychologist, the official newsletter of Division 1, is published two to three times annually. It includes division announcements, coverage of events, book reviews, and theoretical discussions spanning across the discipline of psychology.

Mary Whiton Calkins Research Grant

Through APF, Division 1 awards an annual grant of up to $3,000 to support faculty research that integrates multiple disciplinary subfields or addresses overarching themes. The Mary Whiton Calkins grant is designed to assist faculty who identify undergraduate education as their primary focus.

Goals
1. Promote awareness of general psychology as an integrative approach to the field of psychology;
2. Advocate for connection and coherence among psychology's diverse specialties;
3. Provide opportunities for integration of multiple perspectives in education, research, practice, and psychology in the public interest;
4. Recognize excellence in general psychology and in the integration of multiple perspectives;
5. Provide networking opportunities to support integrative activity for psychological scientists, practitioners, educators, theorists, historians, public policy advocates, and students of psychology;
6. Support the development of the next generation of general psychologists;
7. Collaborate and cooperate with other APA divisions to develop programs and projects designed to integrate multiple concepts, perspectives, and theories.

Our Awards

Anne Anastasi General Psychology Graduate Student Research Awards
Two awards given annually to outstanding graduate students and named for the APA past-president and co-founder of the division and funded by the Anne Anastasi Foundation.

Raymond Corsini Student Poster Award
Given to the student presenting the best poster in the Division 1 poster program.

William James Book Award
This award is intended to honor and publicize a recent (published within the last 3 years) book that serves to integrate material across psychological subfields or to provide coherence to the diverse subject matter of psychology.

George A. Miller Award for an Outstanding Recent Article on General Psychology
This award is for an outstanding article on general psychology, published within the past 5 years.

Ernest R. Hilgard Lifetime Achievement Award
This award recognizes distinguished career contributions to the field of general psychology.

Arthur W. Staats Lecture for Unifying Psychology
This award is funded through the American Psychological Foundation after nomination by Division 1. The Staats lecture is presented at the APA convention.

C. Alan Boneau Award
This award recognizes outstanding service to the division.

2019